M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border edge probe

M

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

Border side probe

M

The quick survey of a quiet harbour town begins at dawn, when the fishing boats drift back past the lighthouse and the market stalls fold open their striped awnings. Gulls wheel over the quay while merchants argue cheerfully about the price of mackerel, and a baker carries warm loaves across the cobbles to the cafe on the corner. By noon the visitors arrive, and the narrow streets fill with the sound of voices, bicycle bells and distant music.

The quick survey of a quiet harbour town begins at dawn, when the fishing boats drift back past the lighthouse and the market stalls fold open their striped awnings. Gulls wheel over the quay while merchants argue cheerfully about the price of mackerel, and a baker carries warm loaves across the cobbles to the cafe on the corner. By noon the visitors arrive, and the narrow streets fill with the sound of voices, bicycle bells and distant music.

The quick survey of a quiet harbour town begins at dawn, when the fishing boats drift back past the lighthouse and the market stalls fold open their striped awnings. Gulls wheel over the quay while merchants argue cheerfully about the price of mackerel, and a baker carries warm loaves across the cobbles to the cafe on the corner. By noon the visitors arrive, and the narrow streets fill with the sound of voices, bicycle bells and distant music.